Forecast For Wales
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Wednesday 17 Nov 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Some sunshine today, then cloudier and milder tomorrow.

Today:
A dry and bright day for much of the country, with the best of the sunshine through the morning, albeit with the chance of the odd shower towards the north. More cloud making the sunshine hazier by the afternoon. Breezy. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Tonight:
Some clear spells at first, but on the whole becoming cloudier through the evening. After midnight, a few spots of light rain or drizzle are possible, especially further north. Minimum temperature 5 deg C (41 deg F).

Thursday:
A largely cloudy day with occasional light rain or drizzle, especially over windward coasts and hills. Despite this, it will again be very mild for the time of year. Maximum temperature 15 deg C (59 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Mild, cloudy and drizzly at times on Friday and Saturday. After a brief splash of rain early on Sunday, skies will brighten markedly but it will turn colder.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.